Saltrex offers companies worldwide the best circular solutions. Whether you are looking for a new destination for commodities, damaged and brand protected goods or food related products. We always find the right platform. For our Saltrex Certified Reuse & Recycling platform we are looking for an Product Owner.

Role Overview

Saltrex Certified Reuse & Recycling is a global online B2B tender platform, which also serves as a 'circular solutions search engine' for companies that need to dispose of their inventories or that look for innovative solutions for their waste streams. You can find more details in our introductory video here.

Product Owners work at the intersection of business, engineering, and design. Their goal is to serve customers better and incrementally increase the value of business. Your role will have a direct effect on the product and on maximising the value of Saltrex services to our clients as well as stakeholders. You will be responsible for turning ideas into user stories, validating them and tailoring them accordingly based on market feedback.

Key Responsibilities and duties will include:

- Drive product vision and roadmap.
- Participate in end-to-end product development.
- Build and maintain the product backlog.
- Pivot between product and customer needs.
- Work in Agile/SCRUM development process.
- Be continuously available to the development team for feedback.
- Become a product go-to expert.
- Maximise business and customer values of the product.
- Support sales and marketing with your knowledge of the product and data.
- Manage various stakeholders.

What we are looking for:

- 2-3 years' work experience.
- Previous experience with startup/own projects.

- End-to-end product manager, not a backlog manager.
- Strong analytical skills, creative, detail and data-oriented problem solver.
- Strategic thinker who can balance business impact, commercial needs, and development process.
- Proven ability to work with cross-functional teams.
- Knowledge of IT terminology – API, ML, etc.
- Ability to develop and articulate a well thought out business case.
- Excellent verbal and written English skills are critical to craft clear requirements and expertly communicate complex information to both technical and non-technical audiences.

What do we offer?

- Startup mentality and environment;
- Big responsibility and freedom to develop your own action plan and bring in new ideas;
- A young and entrepreneurial atmosphere;
- Experiences in a fast-growing company;
- Financial compensation;
- Laptop and Mobile Phone;

How to apply?
